ACTFL

The American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages is the only national organization dedicated to the improvement and expansion of the teaching and learning of all languages at all levels of instruction. ACTFL is an individual membership organization of more than 10,500 foreign language educators and administrators from elementary through graduate education, as well as government and industry.

CAEP

CAEP advances excellence in educator preparation through evidence-based accreditation that assures quality and supports continuous improvement to strengthen P-12 student learning. Accreditation is a nongovernmental activity based on peer review that serves the dual functions of assuring quality and promoting improvement. More than 900 educator preparation providers will initially participate in the CAEP accreditation system, which serves all providers currently accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) and the Teacher Education Accreditation Council (TEAC). Educator preparation providers include traditional institutions of higher education, as well as alternative pathways such as residency programs. CAEP determines which educator preparation programs meet rigorous national standards in preparing teachers and other classroom specialists. Functioning as the profession's quality control mechanism for teacher preparation, CAEP is a coalition of 34 national education organizations, which represents teachers, teacher educators, subject matter specialists, and policymakers.

CAEP Accreditation Process

The Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) accreditation process establishes rigorous standards for educator preparation providers, holds accredited institutions accountable for meeting these standards, and encourages unaccredited providers to demonstrate the quality of their programs by working for and achieving professional accreditation.

In CAEP's performance-based accreditation system, educator preparation providers must provide evidence of competent teacher candidate performance. CAEP-accredited providers are expected to ensure that teacher candidates know their subject and how to teach it effectively.

CAEP's State Partnership and Content Areas Committee has approved teacher preparation program standards for 25 program areas. These standards were developed by professional associations that are constituent members of CAEP. ACTFL® is the Specialized Professional Association representing the foreign language specialty area.

Information about ACTFL/CAEP standards for foreign language programs can be found at:
